8:00 – 9:30 am

Microbial Induced Corrosion

Keith Dart, MAK Consulting, Inc.

Join us for a discussion and presentation by Keith Dart on one of the most pressing issues facing the concrete industry and the recent research that has recently been done by Dr. Jason Weiss and his team at Oregon State. We will present a general overview of how MIC occurs and reveal some of the latest findings of Dr. Weiss' research and how to combat the effects of MIC on concrete structures.

Keith obtained a degree in Marketing in 1994 from the University of Arkansas and entered the industry in 1996 working for Turmac, Inc. In 2005 he began working for Mel Marshall and in May of 2018 ventured out on his own with MAK Consulting. Keith represents several different companies in the industry and has done extensive research and training on Microbial Induced Corrosion over the past five years.
